INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors of The Mustard Seed Society and the Mustard Seed Foundation (together herein referred to as "The Mustard Seed")

Opinion

We have audited the combined consolidated financial statements of The Mustard Seed (the "Entity"), which comprise:

- the combined consolidated statement of financial position as at March 31, 2024;
- the combined consolidated statement of operations and net assets for the year then ended;
- the combined consolidated statement of cash flows for the year then ended;
- and notes to the combined consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies (hereinafter referred to as the "financial statements").

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the combined consolidated financial position of the Entity as at March 31, 2024, and its combined consolidated results of operations and its combined consolidated cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the "Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements" section of our auditor's report.

We are independent of the Entity in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

KPMG LLP, an Ontario limited liability partnership and member firm of the KPMG global organization of independent member firms affiliated with KPMG International Limited, a private English company limited by guarantee. KPMG Canada provides services to KPMG LLP.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Entity or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Entity's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists.

Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of the financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.

We also:

• Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Entity's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Entity's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Entity to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

With the exception of Seed Works, TMS is a Christian non-profit organization that has been caring for the needs of those experiencing poverty and homelessness since 1984. 1. Nature of organization (continued):

TMS strives to support change in the lives of those in need, together with the celebrated efforts of volunteers, donors and the community.

The Society and the Foundation are incorporated under the Societies Act of the Province of Alberta. With the exception of Seed Works, the Society and the Foundation are registered as charitable organizations authorized to issue donation receipts for income tax purposes under paragraph 149(1) of the Income Tax Act, and are exempt from Federal and Alberta income taxes, provided certain requirements of the Income Tax Act are met.

2. Basis of presentation:

These combined consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-for-Profit Organizations ("ASNPO").

3. Significant accounting policies:

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed in preparation of the combined consolidated financial statements:

(a) Basis of combination and consolidation:

The TMS combined consolidated financial statements include the combined operations of the Society and the Foundation, which is consolidated to include Seed Works. The Society and the Foundation are independent entities that exist for a common economic and community purpose. Inter-entity balances and transactions are eliminated in preparing the combined consolidated financial statements.

(b) Use of estimates and judgment:

The preparation of combined consolidated financial statements in accordance with ASNPO requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the recorded amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities and the reported amounts of revenue and expenditures. Actual results may differ from those estimates.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimates are revised and in any future periods affected.

In preparing these combined consolidated financial statements, the significant judgments made by management in applying TMS's accounting policies and the key sources of estimation were the depreciation rates and useful lives of capital assets, allocation of expenditures and valuation of gift-in-kind donations.

3. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(c) Revenue recognition:

TMS follows the deferral method of accounting for contributions. Revenue containing conditions as to its use (restricted contributions) is deferred until the conditions are fulfilled. Contributions, including government funding not containing restrictions as to their use, are recognized upon receipt or when receivable if the amount can be reasonably estimated and collection is assured. Rental revenue is recognized in the period during which occupancy took place.

Investment income, which includes interest, dividends, realized and unrealized gains and losses on sale of investments, are recognized on an accrual basis.

Donations and government funding restricted for the acquisition of capital assets are recognized as revenue in amounts that match the amortization expense of the related capital assets purchased with the donations and government funding.

In-kind contributions of goods and services are recognized in the financial statements at fair value as at the date of contribution when fair value can be reasonably estimated and when the materials and services are used in the normal course of the organization's operations and would otherwise have been purchased.

(d) Cash and cash equivalents:

Cash and cash equivalents include deposits in banks, certificates of deposit and other short-term investments with original maturities of less than 90 days at year end.

(e) Capital assets:

Capital assets are measured at cost less accumulated amortization. Land is carried at cost and not amortized. Cost includes expenditures that are directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset. Assets under construction are not amortized until they are available for use.

Amortization is calculated on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

Asset Category	Term
Tangible capital assets: Land lease	25 voars
Buildings	25 years 25 years
Furniture and equipment	5 years
Vehicles and computer hardware	3 1/3 years
Intangible assets: Computer software	5 years

3. Significant accounting policies (continued):

(f) Financial instruments:

Financial instruments are recorded at fair value on initial recognition. Freestanding derivative instruments that are not in a qualifying hedging relationship and equity instruments that are quoted in an active market are subsequently measured at fair value. All other financial instruments are subsequently recorded at cost or amortized cost, unless management has elected to carry the instruments at fair value. TMS has not elected to carry any such financial instruments at fair value.

Transaction costs incurred on the acquisition of financial instruments measured subsequently at fair value are expensed as incurred. All other financial instruments are adjusted by transaction costs incurred on acquisition and financing costs, which are amortized using the straight-line method.

Financial assets are assessed for impairment on an annual basis at the end of the fiscal year if there are indicators of impairment. If there is an indicator of impairment, TMS determines if there is a significant adverse change in the expected amount or timing of future cash flows from the financial asset. If there is a significant adverse change in the expected cash flows, the carrying value of the financial asset is reduced to the highest of the present value of the expected cash flows, the amount that could be realized from selling the financial asset or the amount TMS expects to realize by exercising its right to any collateral. If events and circumstances reverse in a future period, an impairment loss will be reversed to the extent of the improvement, not exceeding the initial carrying value.

(g) Impairment of long-lived assets:

Long-lived assets are tested for recoverability whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that their carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognized when their carrying amount exceeds the total undiscounted cash flows expected from their use and eventual disposition. The amount of the impairment loss is determined as the excess of the carrying value of the asset over the asset's fair value.

(h) Volunteer services:

The efforts of volunteer workers are not reflected in the accompanying financial statements, in as much as no objective basis is available to measure the value of such services. However, a substantial number of volunteers have donated significant amounts of their time to TMS.

4. Accounts receivable:

Accounts receivable comprises the following:

	2024	2023

	$ 518,924	$ 728,027

5. Loan receivable:

On February 15, 2022, the Foundation entered into a loan agreement with the Ogden United Church ("OUC") to provide funding for the construction of the joint Ogden Family Building (the "Project") on a loan repayment plan with no interest.

On June 29, 2023, a Settlement Agreement and Mutual Release (the "Agreement") was reached whereby TMS acquired the remaining interest in the Project in exchange for settlement of this loan receivable and other consideration, including cash. Consequently, on March 31, 2024, the loan balance was $nil (2023 – $2,398,822).

6. Capital assets:

12. Financial risks and concentration of credit risk:

(a) Currency risk:

Currency risk is the risk associated with transacting in and holding balances that are denominated in foreign currencies. Occasionally, TMS receives donations denominated in foreign currencies. These are converted to Canadian currency as soon as practicable. Aside from these transactions, TMS is not exposed to currency risk. There has been no change to currency risk exposure during the year.

(b) Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk that TMS will be unable to fulfill its obligations on a timely basis or at a reasonable cost. TMS manages its liquidity risk by monitoring its operating cash flow requirements, and by preparing budgets and cash flow forecasts to ensure it has sufficient funds to meet its obligations.

(c) Credit risk:

Credit risk is the risk that a counter-party will default on its contractual obligations resulting in a financial loss. TMS is exposed to credit risk on its accounts receivable, cash and short-term receivable. Management assesses on a continuous basis its accounts receivable and makes a provision for any amounts that are not collectible through an allowance for doubtful accounts.

There has been no change to credit risk exposure during the year. Cash is deposited at major commercial banks.

(d) Interest rate risk:

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate as a result of changes in market interest rates. TMS is exposed to interest rate risk on interest-bearing cash deposits and loans and borrowings, including certain loans and borrowings that bear interest at rates that fluctuate with market interest rates (note 8). There has been no change to interest rate risk exposure during the year. TMS uses derivative instruments to reduce its exposure to interest rate risk (note 8(b)).
